Ryan Drollette

Ryan Drollette is a Research Analyst for Decision Innovation Solutions.

In his current role with Decision Innovation Solutions, Ryan is responsible for analyzing policy proposals and estimating their impact on industries important to clients. Ryan also assists in implementing solutions for clients.

Originally from Benson, Utah, Ryan worked as an Extension Technician for Utah State University prior to relocating to the Des Moines, Iowa area in early 2011. While at USU, he assisted in the collection and analysis of data of the cattle producers of northern Utah. After Ryan graduated with his B.S. he worked for ABS Global as a Reproductive Program Technician for the northern Utah/southeastern Idaho area. While working for ABS, he was responsible for area sales and services in the dairy and beef industries. He instructed dairy and beef producers in artificial insemination techniques, including providing hands-on training.

Ryan received a M.S. in Applied Economics from Utah State University. He also received a B.S. from Utah State University in Dairy Science. He grew up on a 30-cow dairy farm in northern Utah where he developed a love and passion for agriculture.
